

Patricia Wyvill

I was born and raised in New Jersey where I lived in the country and learned to appreciate and love the incredible world that God has given us. I graduated from Syracuse University with a BS degree in Textiles & Clothing Design. Upon graduation I moved to Boston to enter the Executive Retail Training program at Jordan Marsh. Realizing I may not be suited for retail, I then began my journey to see other parts of the country (and to confirm that there were still real cowboys and Indians in the Midwest!) while living and working in Minnesota, Missouri, Georgia and finally Maryland.

While in Maryland and working as an interior designer, I met my husband Ken, who later convinced me to join him and start his own insurance business. What was to be only a 3 month stint for me turned into 21 years. I became a licensed property/casualty agent and became the personnel/accounting/office manager until we sold the business in 2018 and retired to Orange County.

My hobbies include many outdoor activities including tennis and trapshooting which I enjoy to this day. I have traveled throughout the USA and Canada shooting competitively for the past 49 years. Ken and I also traveled to Hong Kong, China, Hawaii, and parts of Europe for pleasure.
